Dear Partners,

We are committed to keeping you informed and supported as we navigate these uncertain times. Our team continuously monitors the evolving landscape, identifying challenges and opportunities that may impact our communities. We are also actively engaging with peers and partners across New York to stay informed on new developments and their regional impact.

We value collaboration and are working to ensure our partners have access to the resources and insights needed to manage change effectively. By sharing knowledge and supporting one another, we can collectively address emerging needs and advance our shared mission of building a healthier, more equitable region.
